

Undergraduate & Interdisciplinary Studies (UGIS): American Studies, ISF & Media Studies Majors

Unit 18 Instructional Workload Credits (IWC)

100% Workload is based on 6 courses per Academic Year

See UC-AFT contract Article 24-A.1a: The full-time (100%) instructional workload standard for Unit 18 Faculty for an academic year shall not exceed six (6) instructional workload credits over two (2) semesters, or

A.1c: c. A full-time course load workload for a 100%-time Unit 18 faculty member who teaches American Studies, ISF and Media Studies courses will not exceed (3) instructional offerings, classes, courses on a semester campus.

With,

A.2a: For purposes of this Article, a course shall be valued at one instructional workload credit (IWC) when it meets the following definition: an instructional offering that is regularly scheduled, requires significant academic preparation by an individual Unit 18 faculty member independently (e.g. syllabus development, lesson planning for class meetings, and assignment development), office hours, and/or grading outside the class by the instructor, and meets a minimum of three (3) hours per week. Two or more sections of a course taught by one Unit 18 Faculty shall have the same IWC as two or more sections of a course taught by multiple Unit 18 Faculty.

The Instructional Workload Credit
Description of the Instructional Offering	Weight per semester
Lower Division Course	.33
Upper Division Course	.33
Lecture with over 200 enrollments	.33
Lecture or seminar with supervision of GSIs & Readers	.33
Other duties that count toward 1 course release per year, equivalent to .17 per year. Other duties may include undergraduate student academic advising and mentoring, program leadership/coordination duties, or other duties listed in Article 24-B of the Unit 18 Lecturer Contract (IX).	.33